NASAFACS 2

2.1.2 Analyze how individuals and families make choices to satisfy needs and wants.

Objective:

Students will...

- Look at a list of expenses and sort them into two categories: Needs and Wants

Materials List:

- Whiteboard and markers
- Notebook paper and pen or pencil

Additional Resources Recommended:

- 5-Minute Financial Activities book (WA27902)
- Be Money Wise Bulletin Board Kit (WA31928)
- Essential Money Management (WA31629)

Introduction

5-10 Minutes

Explain to students that they are going to be coming up with a list of things that people spend money on. Divide the class into small groups and have each group choose a designated note taker. Ask the students to come up with a list of at least 10 items.

Activity

20-30 Minutes

Ask students to share definitions of needs and wants and record the shared definitions on the board. Summarize the definitions by explaining that “needs” are very basic things we need to survive (like food and water) and “wants” make life more interesting and exciting, but you could live without them if you had to (like pizza or soda). Now have the groups return to their lists and try to divide them into needs and wants. Remind students that sometimes it can be hard to tell the difference. Create two columns on the board and label them Needs and Wants. Have the designated note taker from each group record the items on their lists into the appropriate columns.

Conclusion

5-10 Minutes

After the note takers have finished recording their group’s responses, review the columns as a class and facilitate discussion by asking the following questions: Does the way the items have been categorized make sense? Is there anything the class would change? Which column does the class think people spend more money on and why?
