INTRODUCTION

The art of quilting dates back to Ancient Egyptian times and has a rich history. Quilts have been created for basic warmth as well as fine art to adorn walls. They have been used for fundraising efforts for our troops and as communication devices for the Underground Railroad. Quilting allows individuals to work with others, create a functional piece of art, show their originality, and tell stories.

Faith Ringgold is one such artist who incorporated quilting as an art form. Faith was born in 1930 in Harlem, New York. She is known for her story quilts which incorporate painting, quilted fabric, and storytelling.

INSTRUCTIONS

After introducing quilting as an art form, discussing its history and/or introducing Faith Ringgold’s story quilts, have students begin to watercolor their quilt block.

1. Each student will be given a square to create a small painting using liquid watercolors based on the theme of the quilt.
2. Once the square is dry, students can embellish with embroidery floss to create the look of a fabric quilt.

3. When all squares are complete, the class will work together to decide the arrangement of the images on the felt backing.

4. Attach the quilt squares to the quilt backing with spray adhesive.

5. Sew them on the backing to create the group quilt. Sewing can be done by hand or on a sewing machine (by adults or age appropriate students).
